On the drama. I think there is no problem posting peoples stories as long as you dont claim them as your own and you make it clear who the story is written by. I think i'd be annoyed if people took my story that i had worked hard on.

Dancin' in moonlight, I know you are free, Coz I can see your star, shining down on me.

mjsbaby, this is what you wrote on another member's page:

"Hi. I had a few fics posted on a site (I started in the year 2000) and the site went offline. One day I was googling and I found my stories (or pieces of it) pasted on other people's fics. Two of my stories were never finished and they picked up where I left from and added their own stuff. What am I to do? I am not going to bother suing anyone, spending money on a lawsuit because of fanfiction. It's not as if I'm going to publish that stuff in a real book anyway. Sorry, I don't want you to think that I am spamming you. I just wanted to explain. But when you post stuff on cyberspace it's fair game I guess, like pictures etc. I don't care."

So, clearly you claimed the fanfic to be your own work.

Let me explain... I had included parts of other fics I had posted on the net (I have fanfics backing to the year 2000). As for this one mentioned by thisisasock, I included a few catchy words from her (?) story into mine. That's all. I would not so stupid as to post someone else's entire fic and claim it to be mine...

You got it. The site I used to post stories on went offline in 2004 and then people copied it into their own and now I don't have how to prove it. Again, I'm not referring to thisissock story. I'm referring to my own.

Too much drama. I'm going to have the thread deleted and I'm leaving the forum. I can see some people around here are turned off with me because of it and I don't want to disrupt your peace. It's been a slice.
